

NATIONAL AWARDS PROGRAM

The American Police Hall of Fame and Museum developed a National Awards Program in 1972 to recognize the acts of valor of law enforcement officers throughout the United States. Outstanding actions by officers are far too often overlooked due to the lack of departmental award programs. Our National Awards Program is available to all departments across the country.

United States Law Enforcement Foundation (USLEF) is a new umbrella program, bringing together three separate organizations and many years of programmatic impact under one unifying brand, with the simple aim of advocating for law enforcement and supporting all who are involved in it. American Police Hall of Fame, National Association of Chiefs of Police, and American Federation of Police and Concerned Citizens continue to operate as programs of USLEF.

Awards Program

In this brochure you will find a nomination form and a list of the awards we offer. It is never too late to apply for an award that was not issued at the time an act took place. Please use the nomination form on the back if you know of any officer(s) who should be recognized for their actions.

Officer of the Year

In 1988, the American Police Hall of Fame began an annual search to locate one officer that they felt epitomized all law enforcement for the year. Each year the selected officer will receive recognition as the Outstanding Officer of the Year. Eligible nominees are American Law Enforcement officers who performed an act of extraordinary heroism in the line of duty. Nominations are considered based on the documentation submitted. If you know of an officer who deserves the recognition of Outstanding Officer of the Year please download a nomination form at aphf.org.
